Program Overview

The Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP) serves just under 3,000 low-income seniors throughout Utah each month. The program is designed to meet the unique nutritional needs of participants, supplementing diets with a monthly package of healthy, nutritious USDA commodities. With one in six seniors struggling with hunger nationwide, CSFP prevents vulnerable seniors from having to choose between food and other basic needs.

Who Qualifies

CSFP has eligibility requirements for both income and age. CSFP services individuals age 60 and over with incomes of less than 150% of the Federal Poverty Guideline ($1,995 per month for a senior living alone in 2026).

Targets Vulnerable Seniors

Unlike home-delivered meals and congregate feeding programs in senior centers, CSFP is focused specifically on the low-income senior population.

Nationwide Reach

CSFP is available in all 50 states. Utah ranks 27th out of 50 states in providing service to at-need seniors.

Nutritional Benefits

While CSFP is not expected to provide a complete diet, it is designed to provide nutrients typically lacking in senior's diets. A 2012 USDA study rates CSFP's senior food package at 76.6 on the Healthy Eating Index (HEI), significantly higher than the average American diet (at 57.5 HEI).

Food Package Contents

The CSFP food package includes commodities from each of the five recommended USDA food categories:

- Canned fruits - unsweetened or lightly sweetened
- Canned vegetables - low sodium or no salt added
- Low fat dairy - cheese and shelf stable milk
- Whole grains - oats, whole grain noodles, brown rice, and cereals
- Variety of proteins - dry and canned beans, lean meats, poultry, and fish

And with over 70 food items available to choose from, participants are promised a new combination of food items every month.

Purchased not Donated Food

CSFP commodities are 100% American-grown USDA Foods purchased from U.S. farmers and ranchers. Since all products contained in the food box are purchased fresh by the U.S. Government, participants can rest assured that each product goes through strict monitoring at the State and Federal level to keep them free of risk. Participants also appreciate the fact that CSFP commodities are delivered to them well before any expiration date.

Education Component

Utah CSFP takes the USDA charge to offer nutrition education to our clients seriously. Through handouts, special projects, and social media; we are working to improve the habits of the seniors on the program.

Every month a nutrition education handout is included in each and every food box that is distributed throughout the state. Each handout is prepared locally and focuses on issues identified in a comprehensive client survey administered every other year.

Once a year, Utah CSFP undertakes a special educational project. In years past the program has shared a large calendar, a cookbook that included dozens of recipes with commodities included in the program's food box, and an adult coloring book with fun artwork and a some nutrition education on every page.

Additionally, Utah CSFP continues to educate through social media. Included in this effort is a recent initiative to produce short explainer videos on senior health issues, including a video on how to avoid food poisoning.

Utah CSFP Performance

Since its introduction into Utah in 2010, CSFP has continually grown both in caseload and in its reach into counties throughout Utah.

Today Utah CSFP is available in all of Utah's 29 counties. Our federally assigned caseload for FY 2026 is 2,764 clients.

In order to qualify for additional caseload, a state must reach the threshold of 95 percent distribution of caseload. Outside some growing pains in the initial years of the program and recently due to disruptions caused by COVID, Utah CSFP has consistently reached that threshold and has thus seen caseload grow steadily over time.

Thanks to the incredible efforts of Utah Food Bank, the Utah CSFP is in a strong position to continue to grow. Together we can reach more at-risk seniors throughout all 29 counties in the state.

Yearly Number of Boxes Delivered in Utah

Utah Food Bank stores, packages, and delivers over 30,000 boxes each year. Our goal is to continue to grow to meet the needs of a growing number of food insecure seniors in Utah.

Your Responsibility

Most of the administration of CSFP is covered by Utah Food Bank. The allocation of caseload, the purchasing of commodities, the shipping of food boxes, and the processing of applications are all handled by Utah Food Bank. But as a distribution site, you still are responsible in a number of ways to ensure the program is a success.

Identify Potential Clients

As you serve the needs of the at-risk population in your community, pay special attention to those clients 60 years or older who may qualify for CSFP. You can leverage CSFP to free up other resources in your pantry to assist more families in your community.

Assist in the Application Process

Seniors interested in participating in CSFP must first fill out an application form. Your site can verify identification and residency to expedite the process. You should also double check the application has been completely filled out and that there are signatures for the applicant as well as any proxy. Level of income is self-declared.

Once an application is completed, your site will mail, email, or fax the application to Utah Food Bank for certification.

Set a Distribution Schedule

As a distribution site you set the time and means for the distribution of the food boxes to your clientele. When deciding your distribution schedule, please remember the demographics of the CSFP clientele. Our goal is to ensure that our clientele has every opportunity to receive its food box—so please plan your distribution schedule accordingly.

Collect a Signature for Each Box Delivered

For each box distributed, a signature is required. This is an important federal requirement that protects the program from charges of fraud. If a participant is unable to pick up her own box, she is welcome to enlist a proxy to pick up the box for her; but any proxy must be on file as such with Food Bank prior to signing for a participant's box.

Utah Food Bank will provide you with signature sheets you can use while distributing boxes. It is critical for the success of the program that you collect signatures monthly and then return those signature sheets to the food bank before the end of the month.

Ensure Civil Rights

As CSFP is a federal program, you are required to ensure the civil liberties of each client is met. All staff involved in CSFP is required to participate in Civil Rights training available on Utah Food Bank CSFP website every year. Additionally, your site is required to post USDA's "And Justice for All" poster in a prominent location where participants can see and clearly read it.
